Gene Sarazen Captures Golf Championship: Nationals Blank the Browns, 2-0

21-YEAR-OLD PITTSBURGH PRO ANNEXES OPEN TITLE

Italian-American Home Bred Covers 72 Holes in 288 Strokes, One Better Than Jones and Black, Who Tie For Second Place.

KOKIE COUNTRY CLUB, Glencoe, Ill., July 15 .- Gene Sarazen of the Highland Country Club, Pittsburgh, north and south champion, is the new champion golfer of the United States. He won his honor in a garrison finish in the last eighteen holes of the seventy-two-hole tournament here this afternoon with a perfectly turned card of 68, which, with the 220 he had compiled for the previous fifty-four holes, left him a

Just one stroke behind the young Italian-American homebred were Bobby Jones of Atlanta, amateur, and John Black of Oakland, Calif., hero of yesterday's qualifying round, tied at 289 each, and the rest of the field

Sarazen's golfing instinct may be best shown by a remark he made after finishing the round of 68 which won him the title:

"Don't be too sure, Gene," remarked an acquaintance. "Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and Johnny Black all have a chance to get you yet."
"But I've got mine," was the calm assurance of the soon-to-be-chaming And Gene had it.

When Sarazen finished his 68 round, and it was announced he led the field with a 283 there was a ripple of applause. No one took it very seriously. There were too many "out" with a chance to beat him.

But then in came Billy Methlorn, had been maintained over a grove the Pittsburgh boy. But Walter Hagen and Johnny Black were still out, and both had a chance to win, and Black's first first nine holes had been made in 33, which gave him 38 strokes on the last nine holes to the Sarazen and he changionship, but that was the redoubtable Johnny Black, veteran, whose consistency and accuracy had been maintained over a period of the whole week.

JONES YIELDS TO BLACK

GLENGOE, Ill., July 15.—Gene Sarazen, by winning the untional open golf tournament, received a cash prize of $500, the champion-ship cup and a gold medal, in addition to the glory that goes to a titleholder. When he was presented with his prizes and asked to make a speech the little player stepped up on a chair and said:

"I can't say auything fellows; it's all in my heart and nothing in my head. I'm just like all the youngsters that way."

Bobby Jones, while officially tied for second place, goes into third place in the prize list. He waived his claim to second so that John Black, a professional, could take all the second-place money. Jones will receive a silver plate as third prize, since, as an amateur, he canned second a gene avantage and a search average areas as and and and and the canned second as and an amateur, he canned second as an amateur, he canned second a gene avantage. ON THE SIDE LINES With the Sporting Editor -By DENMAN THOMPSON-

DUNCAN.

OLF may be "an old man's game" to a greater extent, at least than any other sport in which those to whom it affords recreation are not confined to the role of spectator, but the victory yesterday in golfdom's blue ribbon event of a stripling barely of voting age furnishes conclusive proof, if any be needed, that in the royal and ancient pastime, as in all others, "youth will be served."

Gene Sarazen's triumph was registered over the greatest galaxy of stars ever to compete in a tournament. When the first of the field teed up for the final day's play in the 72-hole test the lead was held by a middle-aged contender grown grizzled on the links, a grandfather, but at the finish of the grueling grind it was found that the most coveted crown the game affords reposed on the head of one who but a scant hree years ago was a caddy.

In this connection it is neteworthy that the only amateur to land in the first ten-Bobby Jones-who finished in a tie with Black for second place, also is a mere youth, being but a couple of years the senior of Sarazen. Golf is everybody's game.

DAY in base ball such as yesterday when a total of only eleven runs is recorded in the American League provides food for thought for those who insist that the "rabbit ball" alone is responsible for the home run mania and epidemic of extra base hits of all varieties prevalent for the past few seasons. Spheres made of Spetter material" undoubtedly are in a measure accountable for the extra heavy hitting of alent for the past few seasons. Spheres made of Whetter material" undoubtedly are in a measure accountable for the extra heavy hitting of recent campaigns, but yesterday's trio of 2-0 games and one 3-2 contest indicate the quality of pitching furnished has more than a little to do with the runmaking in any diamond battle.

Latest intelligence from abroad in that the international track and intelligence from abroad in that the international track.

Latest intelligence from abroad is that the international track and field competitions scheduled to be held in Dublin this summer have been put off a year, with the "trouble in Ireland" assigned as the cause. Wonde what effect strife in the land of spuds will have on the tour contemplated for the Griffmen next fall. Boy, page Ted Sullivan! HE possible passing from the majors of Chick Fewster, on whom

The Browns today continue as pace-setters in the American League despite their reverse, thanks to the Yankees having been tripped up by the White Sox, but something more to the point is that the Nationals averted slumping into sixth place, for that's just what defeat would have meant with Cleveland blanking the A's.

The only round in which the Browns collected more than one bingle—the fourth—was the lone occasion that Mogridge's runless regime was menaced, and a significant commentary on the caliber of the south-paw in a pinch is that, with visitors on third and first, this was the spot where the sole strike-out credited to him was achieved. And it was ken Williams, the new home-run king of the American League, who was victimized.
